FAQ

Q. How long should nutritional supplements be a part of my diet?

A. According to many health care professionals, in order to remain healthy, vital and energetic, you should continue always to take your nutritional supplements. You'll find The BariCeutical Prescription so easy and comfortable to take, it simply becomes part of your daily routine.

Q. Are BariCeuticals hard to swallow or digest?

A. Unlike big capsules or solid tablets, these nutritional supplements are specially formulated to be easily swallowed and quickly absorbed. Delivered as sprays, liquids and tiny little tablets, they slip down so easily and quickly, you'll hardly know you're taking them.

Q: Why am I becoming nutrient-deficient?

A: After surgery, you will only be eating only 1/10 of what you would normally eat. As you probably know, whenever you are on a diet, your body begins to use its own stored resources leaving you depleted of nutrients, often within two to four weeks.

Q: Why are vitamins easier to take in liquid form?

A: Although the most prevalent form of vitamin supplements is the tablet, they are useless for the bariatric patient who has a compromised digestive track. That is because in order to give a tablet its size, shape and to maintain shelf-life, it contains inactive ingredients such as binders, fillers, artificial colors, flavors, wax coatings and preservatives. More importantly, it can take as long as four hours for our body's system to absorb only 10 to 20% of the nutrients delivered in tablet form. On the other hand, our liquids and immediately release products are already available for absorption by the proper part of the gastrointestinal tract within thirty seconds of consumption, and the overall absorption is 98% (that's nearly 5 to 10 times more absorption than in pill form). That's why our Super B Complex, Opti-Sorb Multi-Vitamin and Pre-Digested Protein are all in liquid form.
